

Job of the Week – Father Christmas

Job description:

To ensure the effective and efficient manufacture and world-wide delivery of toys and presents to children on Christmas Eve. A highly responsible position to hold.

Skills

In addition to being nimble and physically fit, Father Christmas has good knowledge of:

- Working at heights
- Sleigh riding and handling a team of reindeers
- Elf management
- Mine pie eating
- Sliding down chimneys

Subjects

Relevant subjects include: English, Maths, Geography and Design Technology

Job of the Week – Father Christmas

Day-to-day duties

Father Christmas needs many talents to make his one day a year a success including:

- Postman – Forget your Amazon Prime and your Hermes, Father Christmas and his fleet of reindeers would blow them all away. No traffic jams in the sky means no late deliveries.
- Zookeeper – Father Christmas needs to ensure the reindeers are happy and fit for the busy night.
- Warehouse and Logistics Manager – Father Christmas needs a pretty big North Pole warehouse to store all of the gifts. And the entire logistics operation of moving gifts into his sleigh – which miraculously fits it all in – is something to behold.
- Engineer- Head Toymaker – Father Christmas' skillset as an engineer and Head Toymaker is pretty unique – as he must adapt with evolving tech and fleeting toy fads and be on trend each year.
- Customer Service Advisor – Father Christmas magically knows the solutions to your problems before you finish writing your Christmas wish list.

Salary: Father Christmas magically earns enough money to ensure Mrs Christmas, the elves and the team of reindeers are kept in the style to which they have become accustomed.